

GREEN BUILDING CONSULTING

Natura Architectural Consulting (NAC) believes that sustainability practices should be incorporated in to every design project. Our team is guided by a licensed, award-winning Architect who has practical experience in designing green buildings as well a guiding the design of green buildings for Real Estate Developers.

Our process is proven and is guided by the principles that every green building decision should be cost-effective and give value to a project. We look at our projects through the lens of a Real Estate Developer and help owners make the business case for green building decision making.

Our staff includes LEED Accredited professionals with specialty accreditation in Operations & Maintenance.

NAC has the experience to provide consulting and documentation for an entire project or a single credit. Plug us in where and when you need us.
